

Aeraland Recreation Area AT A GLANCE

Formally called Aeraland, short for Atlas Employee Recreation Area, the area was originally created as a private recreation area for employees, families and guests, and retirees of the Atlas Crankshaft Corporation located in Fostoria. The park was funded with money raised from vending machines in the employee canteen.

Aeraland opened on July 12, 1981. Throughout its history, the park featured a swimming pool with bathhouse and pump house, playground equipment, picnicking areas, shuffleboard courts, volleyball courts, tennis courts, basketball court, athletic fields, hiking trails, and parking lots.

After the Fostoria plant closed in 2009, the park was donated to the Washington Township trustees who oversaw maintenance until it was given to the Hancock Park District in December 2012. Since then, many changes and improvements were made to Aeraland Recreation Area.

Aeraland Recreation Area is a 75-acre rural county park in a quiet country setting. Hiking the Highline Trail offers the perfect place for spotting wildflowers and enjoying scenic views of the South Branch Portage River. Hiking the Upland Trail through the 13-acre meadow offers a rare chance to experience relative isolation and solitude.

Picnicking at the shelter is a pleasure, while birdwatching tends to unveil a showcase of habitat diversity. The Gathering Area contains a manicured lawn, an open concrete patio, benches, and six picnic tables with a 48-person capacity.

Even though visiting Aeraland Recreation Area can truly be an escape, the relative isolation and solitude may be disrupted for a while during spring and fall weekends when the park frontage comes alive with youth soccer. The Arcadia Soccer Club has exclusive use of soccer fields for its home field.
